

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVE, JULY 31, 1884.

The cattle fever is raging at several points in Texas, Kansas and Nebraska.

The situation in the cholera infected districts of France continues to improve.

The Washington Monument will be completed about the first of November. It will be the highest in the world.

The National Labor Committee, in session at Chicago, has determined not to call a convention for the nomination of a Presidential ticket.

Ex-Governor St. John, of Kansas, and William Daniel, of Maryland, the Prohibition candidates for President and Vice President, were both radical Republi- can before they became radical temper- perance men.

REPUBLICAN papers published in Louisville, Cincinnati and elsewhere, which copied the scandalous lies concerning Governor Cleveland's private character, will take notice that the Buffalo sheet in which they started has been sued for libel.

The Buffalo Courier says: "Governor Cleveland's acts, his state papers and official utterances are a matter of public record. His official documents would fill a good-sized volume and in point of ability and statesmanship surpass anything that has emanated from Republican Presidents since the close of the civil war."

The State Sanitary Council, under the auspices of the State Board of Health, will hold its fourth annual meeting at Elizabethton, Ky., October 1st and 2nd. The object of the meeting is to bring together representative men of the State of every profession who are interested in sanitary reform, to devise means as to the prevention of disease.

A large majority of reports from all sections of the South except Texas represent the condition of the cotton crop as fair to good, though in most localities the growth is somewhat backward. The tenor of reports from Texas in the early future will depend upon the continuance of dry weather, very early relief being necessary to avert the most serious injury.

The Woman's Journal, published in Boston, says that "the next President is sure to be friendly to woman's suffrage, as for the first time in the history of the country ever party has nominated a candidate who is favorable." The records of Messrs. Blaine, Cleveland, Pomeroy, Butler and St. John are cited in proof of this, and these nominations are declared very encouraging.

A question of snuff ethics and nice law has been decided in Philadelphia. An old lady had a parrot, and because it swore a pious little girl three handfuls of snuff in its face, from which it died with profanity on its tongue. A justice was called on to decide judicially which did the greater wrong, the parrot or the girl. After the examination of the witnesses, the arguments of counsel and due deliberation by the court, the case was decided in favor of the parrot, or the parrot's owner. Thus it will be seen that parrots which are compelled to live in Philadelphia will be protected in their right to swear.

"Don't Embarrass the Governor," From the Lebanon Standard.

Last Thursday Wallace's circus visited Columbus, and with it was Mr. C. C. O. Hall, a graduate of an Indiana college, who has a law office in Columbus, and a law for a branch of business yielding quicker returns and larger profits. Mr. Worrall had an old gambling device containing three small cups and an India rubber ball, which he would spin and catch on the cup that had the ball until it was at once accommodated, provided he was willing to back his judgment literally, and counsellor Worrall harvested shekels galore. Mr. Tom Epperson had shekels galore, $500. Mr. Worrall was strong. He was $80 apart from him and his administrators and assigns forever. There were many more of the same kind, whose names cannot be had, but in the aggregate Mr. Worrall took in quite a sum.

The unfeeling authorities of Columbus arrested Mr. Worrall, and on Saturday he had a trial. The jury found him guilty and fined him $500. They stated they could not fine him any less, but that they would sign a petition to Governor Knott, who happened to be in town, for a pardon.

"Don't Embarrass the Governor," said Mr. Worrall, with that easy grace which renders him so irresistible in his profession. "I am a gambler, and I shall not ask him to break his word on my account. I have the money here, and will just pay the fine."

So Mr. Worrall laid down $300 and an additional sum for the costs, compromised with Mr. Epperson who had sued to recover his money, and quietly left town, after volunteering the information that he was still somewhat ahead of the game, and that his visit to Columbus had been reasonably profitable, better than practising law, at all events.

The female physicians in New York State are busily preparing themselves for the rigors of the examination of the Massachusetts Medical Society. Every woman feels obliged to apply for admission.

TERRIFIC EXPLOSION.

Four Persons Injured. Two Pro- fably Fatal, by a Rocket.

UCINNATI, July 31.—A rocket, containing a charge of gunpowder, exploded in the hum- ble hours of Henry Upmeyer, a laborer, living at 31 Oregon street. Charles, the youngest boy of the family, in company with several other playmates, found an unexploded rocket which had been shot from the roof of a house across the street. The boy brought it home, and endeavored to open it, but without success. His mother then seized a hatchet and dealt it several hard blows, but was prostrated by the shock. The neighbors ran to their assistance, carried them into the house and summoned medical aid.

Henry Upmeyer, who is a widow, had a son, aged 10, a frail, mannered boy, whose abdomen was torn terribly, and the flesh of his lower limbs were burned and torn into shreds. His injuries are fatal. When seen she lay unconscious on a bed, with her clothes daubed with Upmeyer's aged powder.

This young girl was the worst victim of the explosion. Her abdomen was torn open in two places, each gash being six inches in length. She was prostrated, prostrate, and lay on the ground, with the abdominal artery torn.

In addition her lower limbs were both torn, one being directly over the femoral artery, but fortunately missing it. Her fingers were also badly shattered. She is fatally maimed and can not survive, but a few hours.

Charlie Upmeyer, aged six, suffered several wounds on both legs below the knee, both limbs being torn half bare. The wounds were bound with fragments of tin from the rocket. His condition is serious.

Philip Hill, aged ten, was the least hurt of the party, receiving but a few slight cuts on the head and hands. He was Charlie's companion, and was found by the neighbors who discovered the firework. He was interviewed and said, in answer to questions, that the rockets were composed of nitro-barytes, nitro-trinitrate of potash, which is very like nitro-glycerine, and in finely drawn powder, with white wax paper, which is also a explosive.

The deadly missile was a large six-pound rocket, which, after being thrown into the air, exploded and threw out colored lights.

WILLIAM W. AUSTIN, of the U. S. Marine Hospital, which is situated but a short distance from the scene of the accident, responded to a call and cared for the wounded until the arrival of Dr. Seaman, the family physician, who then made a charge.

THE DAILY BULLETIN.

THURSDAY EVE., JULY 31, 1884.

ROSSER & MCGARTHY,
Publishers and Proprietors,
TO WHOM ADDRESS ALL COMMUNICATIONS

Just right here
We have to say
The owl is out
Of sorts to do;
There's no such friend,
The intrepid one,
He'll have to give
Some other time.

See notice of buggy for sale elsewhere.

The usual prayer meeting at the M. E. Church South, this evening at eight p. m., led by the pastor.

The full particulars of the attempt at suicide by Hon. W. W. Culbertson, will be found in our telegraphic columns.

During the camp meeting Parks' Hill, a special train will leave this city every day, Sunday included, at eight o'clock in the morning.

An article in the Eagle yesterday, concerning the BULLETIN, shall have our prompt attention. We regret to see that the old sores are still itching.

The opening services at Park's Hill will be held this evening at eight o'clock p. m. A report will be given of the services each day by our reporter.

The following marriage licenses have been issued in Brown County, Ohio, since our last report:

John O. Farnham and Harris Burley,
Charles Cochran and Alice Blackburn.
R. S. Moore and Sarah Jane Connor.

Dr. HENDERSON will leave to-morrow morning for Park's Hill Camp Meeting. There will be no services at the Southern Methodist Church next Sabbath in view of the camp meeting at Deering.

An infant son of Mr. John Allender, who lives on Grant street, fell down a staircase at the family residence yesterday and broke the thigh bone near the knee. The limb was set by Dr. J. T. Strode.

In the Circuit Court, Wednesday, William Yates, colored, was convicted of willfully and maliciously cutting another and fined $50. In default of payment of the fine he is confined at hard labor in the jail for fifty days.

Mr. G. S. Judd sold, this week, three lots on January street, belonging to Miss Lou Powling, to Mr. Wm. Lally for $3,000. He also sold a lot on the Flemingsburg turnpike, belonging to Mr. Wm. O'Brien, to Mrs. Creighbaum for $25.

A TELEGRAM was received yesterday, by the friends of Mr. Littleton Hill in this city, which stated that his business house at Fairmount, near Cincinnati, had been destroyed by fire. We are sorry to hear of Mr. Hill's had luck, but are pleased to learn the loss is partly covered by insurance.

"ALDERNEY FARM," the suburban home of Mr. Augustus Resseps, so well known to the society people of Maysville was all ablaze with Chinese lanterns last night in honor of the Mayville Assembly. About ten carriage loads came driving in this morning at early dawn, their general appearance bespeaking of a "fete" enjoyable and long to be remembered.

MESSRS. GEORGE COX & SON, this morning made a shipment of carots to Falls City, Nebraska. Not long ago they made shipments of the same kind to Texas and Tennessee. This goes to show that Mayville is able to compete with the world at large in almost any line of merchandise. It will be remembered that the other day a large lot of barbed wire fencing was sent to Missouri by a firm in this city, because it was bought at a lower price than it could be obtained for in the west.

A Theory About Cheat.

Mr. GILKARD, Ky., July 29, 1884.
Ed. Bulletin: Uncle Budrich Dairys son's motion in regard to the growth of cheat seems plausible, but from my own observations it is not entirely satisfactory to me. He is a good deal older than I am and I have known him for a great many years. I take it not as fact that he positively knows, but merely as a final conclusion after many years of thought.

Uncle Budrich sowed a piece of new land in wheat that was never in wheat before. It came very thick with cheat and it took both to make the stand that we would expect of the wheat alone. It was sown out of seed we called Mediterranean for we had no sowing for years, not having any since it came.

Well, Uncle Bud, tell me if the seed was in the ground before we sowed the wheat; if so, how long had it been there, and how did it get there.

When we think what there is always a quantity of wheat left on the ground where the thresher stood. Where I threshed last year it lay undisturbed, it sprouted up and last spring it looked as though it would make a fine patch of wheat. It was a continual source of much cheat, with now and then a head of wheat. One would suppose that a more than one-half of it would be wheat at least. Now, what became of the wheat and what that wheat is more easily germinated than the cheat?

Here is one I dashed off.

It is to me.

"Old Blaine's letter of acceptance is longer than the moral law, and just such a weak, puny mess of dodges and tafty, as you would expect."

"There is no doubt that it would appear when it was sown that it had not any seed there before. Uncle Bud may think he is going to catch me now, but it did not come according to his theory. Instead of coming in the middle of the impression, it was in close contact with the bare and most exposed to the heat and cold, it would be around the edges of the impression in close proximity to timothy.

Now, Mr. Editor, from these observations with others, have come to the conclusion that cheat is a plant from faulty or damaged seeds either in germinating or in the stool, the transformation being caused by the effects of a certain amount of heat, cold, wet and dry weather, so that it is not a natural plant, but a plant which is brought to bear consequently cannot remain in its purity as on the principle of degeneracy. This has ever been a question of dispute. Let us hear from some other observers. Very respectfully,

He will preach every day this week and on Sunday also. Presiding Elder C. J. Howes, and Rev. Mr. Hagerman, of Cincinnati, are also in the city on their way to the grounds. Mrs. Vonholz and daughter are expected to arrive to-day.

GERMANTON.

The reopening of the M. E. Church in Germantown, which had been closed for nearly two years, was an occasion to be remembered by those present. The church was dedicated to the service of God and showed clearly that the speaker possessed superior preaching power. At the close of the service the people were invited to contribute and their libations to God's cause by responding to call in the name of the church.

JOURNALISTS AND THEIR TASK.

How a Few Degenerate to Seek Riches
In Another Chair.

Joe Howard writes as follows to the Philadelphia Press: "There is one thing about a newspaper, its work is so exacting that the workers have but little time to live. He is a good deal older than I am and I have known him for a great many years. I take it not as fact that he positively knows, but merely as a final conclusion after many years of thought.

Uncle Bud sowed a piece of new land in wheat that was never in wheat before. It came very thick with cheat and it took both to make the stand that we would expect of the wheat alone. It was sown out of seed we called Mediterranean for we had no sowing for years, not having any since it came.

Well, Uncle Bud, tell me if the seed was in the ground before we sowed the wheat; if so, how long had it been there, and how did it get there.

When we think what there is always a quantity of wheat left on the ground where the thresher stood. Where I threshed last year it lay undisturbed, it sprouted up and last spring it looked as though it would make a fine patch of wheat. It was a continual source of much cheat, with now and then a head of wheat. One would suppose that a more than one-half of it would be wheat at least. Right in Style.

John—Say, George, you really ought to know better than to scratch that paper with a penknife.

George—And why shouldn't I scratch?

Why, because people will think you are shy of soap and water.

That's all you know about it.

I should like you to explain yourself.

I scratch because I itch; and, more than that, I am proud of the itching.

Shameless! Not a bit of it. I am right in the height of style.

How so, indeed?
